Subject: TRANS E004

From the Japanese "Study Group" we received the tape E004 which we found in agreement with the rules. It contains differential CPND converted by Dr. Chiba from NRDF (Nuclear Reaction Data File) into EXFOR.

EXFOR-E tapes may contain NOSUBENT's. These are used when NRDF contains subentries with data that have no correspondence in EXFOR.

As NRDF data are usually differential CPND, there should be no danger of duplicate compilations.

You will receive copies of TRANS-E004 under separate cover. This should be considered as the first valid tape of the E series; E-001 to E-003 were trial tapes.
